

Decorative Concrete Overlay

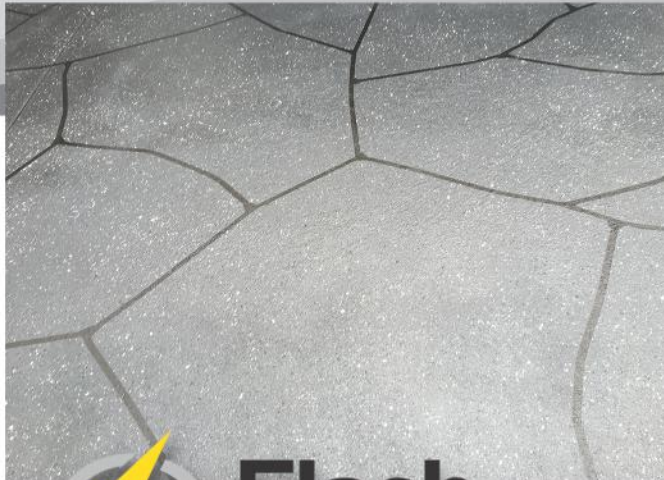

Product Information

A Decorative Concrete Overlay is a very versatile, hard wearing product used in both interior and exterior applications. It is made up of high strength cements, selected sands, and top quality polymers.

At FLASH, we use it in more applications than any other. We can resurface your existing damaged or new concrete to bring it back to life. The design possibilities are huge. Cracks can be repaired and then the damaged surface can be resealed, then a designer top coat is installed to give the look of slate tile, granite, brick, stone or timber. Then borders and custom motifs can be added just to name a few possibilities. Even areas with quite large cracks can be brought back to life through our faux stone system. Architects and designers love the fact that we can take most colours in your home décor and have the overlay tinted to match. This is something that only we at FLASH have available to us. All of these finishes are suitable for interiors and exteriors.

- For interior and exterior use
- Very durable, has high tensile strength and flexibility
- Resistant to delamination
- Very versatile. Has numerous finishing options
- Great for renovations and for new floors
- Sealed once installed to lock in the colour and protect the surface from stains
